

Why would you even consider limiting what XM radio can carry. That sure sounds like "BIG BROTHER" tactics to me. I thought the FCC was around to protect consumer interest. As always the government is full of political cronies looking for a free lunch from a lobbyist - not consumer protections.